THE TORCH

Class of 1963

EAST BRIDGEWATER HIGH SCHOOL
EAST BRIDGEWATER, MASSACHUSETTS

FOREWORD

The yearbook staff hopes, through the 1963 Torch, to present a permanent record of a student's high school years. In editing any yearbook it is essential that every facet of school life be portrayed to its fullest. Every activity, from the classroom to the football field, should be considered and evaluated. This is a very arduous task.

It would be senseless to try to discuss each activity at random. Some plan of action must be made. Therefore, in order to realize the true significance of each school function, it is necessary to view the school in an organized manner. Because we must have a suitable instrument for such a task, it is advantageous to select some personage or object which would represent all that is wholesome in school life. What instrument could better convey this idea than the student himself?

The "ideal student" embodies all fine qualities. Although, in reality, no such student exists, he represents the best in each student. He is an excellent scholar, a talented athlete and musician, and one who is able to assume responsibility and manage himself efficiently. Therefore, we give you life at East Bridgewater High School through the eyes of the "ideal student."

MR. EMERY S. LOUD

"Instruction increases inborn worth, and right discipline strengthens the heart."
—Horace

It is with great pleasure and pride that the class of 1963 dedicates its yearbook to Mr. Loud. This is the last in a series of many years during which he has served the town of East Bridgewater as a teacher, vice principal, and principal in its school system. Mr. Loud's leadership and adeptness in numerous areas have contributed greatly to the enrichment of our high school education. He has assisted each class in its progression from the early stages of freshman adjustment to the final preparations for college during the senior year. Mr. Loud has devoted much of his time and energy in these efforts, and his deep concern in the student activities has been greatly appreciated.

Therefore, it is with sincere gratitude that we dedicate this, the 1963 edition of the Torch, to Mr. Emery S. Loud.

DEDICATION

SALUTATION

Our progression through school these past four years has been a most important part of our life. We began as hesitant freshmen, trying to accustom ourselves to the busy high school schedule. As the months and years passed, we were confronted by many important decisions and were involved in a variety of activities. However, we met the various responsibilities and accepted our duties as intelligent adults. Were it not for our worthy advisors, however, we would never have been able to succeed.

These advisors were willing to assist us in our efforts with encouraging advice. They supported us in all our activities and made our high school years both productive and enjoyable.

Miss Sullivan, our freshman and sophomore class advisor, aided us in handling many of the responsibilities we assumed as new students in this school. She assisted us at class meetings where we elected officers and framed our class constitution. She also did much to make our Sophomore Hop a success.

In our junior year we were honored in having Mr. Agganis as our class advisor. He assisted us with our class rings, and contributed much to the success of our Junior Prom.

Upon entering our senior year, our class received two new advisors. They were Mr. McGowan, class advisor, and Mr. Kjellerstedt, our yearbook advisor. These two men devoted a great deal of their time and efforts to the enrichment of our senior year. Their much needed advice in many of our activities, such as the editing of this yearbook and the planning of our Senior Reception, will always be remembered and appreciated.

Assistance and counseling, however, did not come solely from our advisors. There is still one other person who unselfishly gave of her time and talents for our benefit. This person, Mrs. Hynes, is the school librarian. Our class will never forget the help she gave us on those weekly reports and tedious research papers.

These individuals, although only a small portion of our faculty, represent a large segment of our high school years. Their assistance has been gratefully received, and it is at this time that we, the class of 1963, wish to salute them.

Mr. Norman McGowan; Mr. Albert Kjellerstedt; Miss Mary Sullivan; Mr. Demo Agganis; Mrs. Anne Hynes.

ADMINIS

Mr. Stanley B. Goldman
Superintendent of Schools

The teen-ager has very understandably been called the "most exasperating, the most unpredictable, and the most inspiring citizen in America."

I read with great interest a recent Saturday Evening Post survey, compiled by the Gallup Poll, on "Youth, the Cool Generation," spotlighting what American youth think about war, religion, jobs, sex, parents, and themselves.

This is the way the Gallup Poll has sized up American youth, this "cool generation" —

> "Our teen-age culture is a product of affluence. Teen-agers spend a good deal of their money on themselves — on clothes, cosmetics, recreational paraphernalia, records, cars, travel, and other leisure class goods and services. Teen-age culture revolves around three basic values: beauty, fun, and popularity. These are the pre-occupations of today's teen-age generation."

Personally, I have great faith and confidence in our youth. I don't think they are such a "cool generation" — if by "cool" you mean cold, dispassionate, disinterested, blase, sophisticated, self-centered, sure of themselves and their ground.

I believe they need to be reassured that there will be a future for them and that there will be room at the top for those who, by hard work, serious, diligent preparation, demonstrated capacity and undeviating determination, make up their minds to succeed in life.

If I would sum up all I can say to this "cool" generation, I would recall the words of Moses in laying aside the mantle of leadership:

> "Be strong and of good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed, for the Lord thy God will be with thee."

TRATION

Ralph Waldo Emerson in his essay "Self-Reliance" wrote these sentences: "The virtue in most request is conformity. Self-reliance is its aversion. It loves not realities and creators, but names and customs."

We are too prone to accept today standards in music, literature, even dress and social customs which are passing fads so lacking in real merit that in a few short years these standards and their arbiters are forgotten. They could not survive the test of knowledge and reason since in and of themselves they possessed no real virtues.

The goal of education today should be to equip our youth with a thorough knowledge of the past, with the skills to meet the needs of the present, and with the power and will to exercise judgments which will safeguard their future. Young people so equipped will shun conformity, will rely upon their own judgments, will respect and admire "whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report."

Principal

GUIDANCE DIRECTOR

Mrs. Briggs, who specializes in vocational interests, has often times proven to be a prime factor in the success of the student. As guidance director, she provides the student with a wealth of information concerning the fields in which he shows special aptitude. The frequent visits to her office made by students are ample evidence of her significance as a member of our school faculty.

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT

Mr. Morey, our administrative assistant, has contributed much to the education of each pupil in East Bridgewater High School. Together with his duties as Vice Principal, Mr. Morey has made many other contributions to the student body. He not only assumes the responsibilities of being a teacher and coach, but also of being an understanding and dutiful parent. He is truly a versatile individual, and his friendly advice is heeded by all.

CURRICULUM

ENGLISH

A basic foundation in both grammar and literature is vital to the success of every student. Therefore much emphasis is placed upon the efficiency of the English Department. Here at E.B.H.S. the student is presented a balanced program of grammar and literature designed to provide him with a well-rounded study of our language, as well as some insight into its stubtleties. Stress is also placed upon original composition in the belief that the student who is able to think and express himself clearly is better equipped to cope with his future.

LANGUAGES

The language department of our high school amply provides the student with a basic foundation for future study of the liberal arts. Emphasis is not only placed on the grammar and pronunciation of the language, but also upon the cultural interests of the people. Increased knowledge of the language and people is attained through the tape recordings which accompany the text and through the informative lectures given by the instructor. These facilities, however, are very limited, and it is hoped that future years will yield a more advanced program.

MATHEMATICS

Both the science department and the department of mathematics have been gradually modified to keep up with the increasing emphasis placed upon technology in today's world. Modern textbooks and equipment are being used not only to teach the student the principles and laws of a particular subject, but also to develop logical thinking and form a wide background for future studies. This year the freshmen, sophomores, and juniors found themselves confronted with courses in mathematics which have been unprecedented in this school system. Emphasis is being placed largely upon the thought behind the procedure as well as a strong foundation in the rudiments of mathematics.

Since mathematics is the language of the scientist and an essential tool in the field of technology, this revolution in the math department has stimulated similar advancements in the science department.

SOCIAL STUDIES

The social studies department, under the direction of Mr. Lays and Mr. Goodwin, offers a wide range of study in the areas of history and current events. Students are taught to associate past happenings with the problems facing the world today. Through his study the student becomes a keen observer and is able to logically and critically analyze the material before him. Frequent debates and panel discussions together with audio-visual aids contribute to the classroom instruction.

BUSINESS

It is the aim of the business department to better prepare the high school student for the ever increasing job opportunities offered in this area of study, whether it be secretarial work or public accounting. Among the courses offered in this department are typing, bookkeeping, shorthand, business law, and office practice. Due to the expert teaching, availibility of equipment, and unlimited practice, students are given the best possible opportunity to succeed in the expanding and highly competitive field of business.

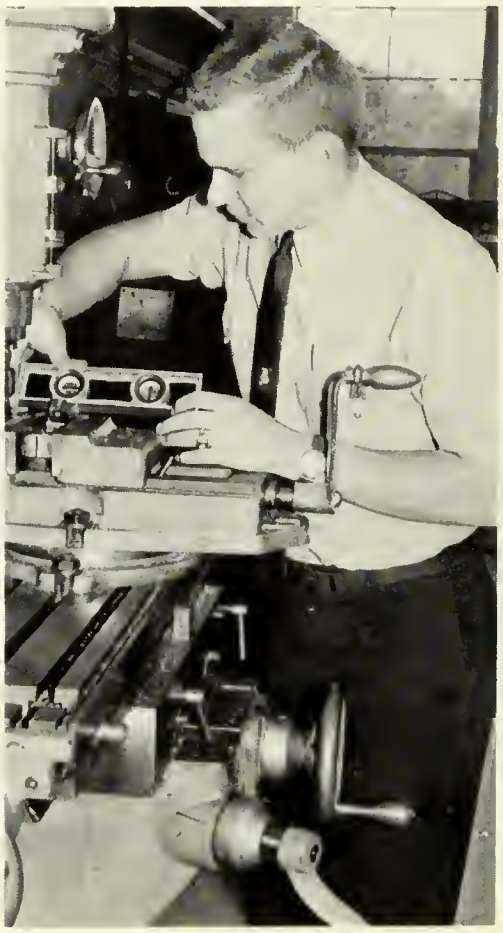
MANUAL ARTS

Basic manual skills are equally important to the development of the student as the more academic courses.

The home economics department, directed by Mrs. Farrar, specializes in the household arts.

Mr. Stevens of the art department offers to the more artistically inclined students excellent courses of study in the fundamentals of drawing and design.

The shop, under the direction of Mr. Eastman and Mr. Menard, provides courses in mechanical drawing, woodworking, and metal working.



PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The girls' and the boys' physical education department, under the direction of Mrs. Lovering and Mr. Malewicz, strives to include in their respective programs a variety of areas of development. Each department, although incorporating different techniques, endeavors to give excellent training in all phases of physical education. The courses are extremely worthwhile and are an asset to the development of an individual mentally, socially, morally, and physically.

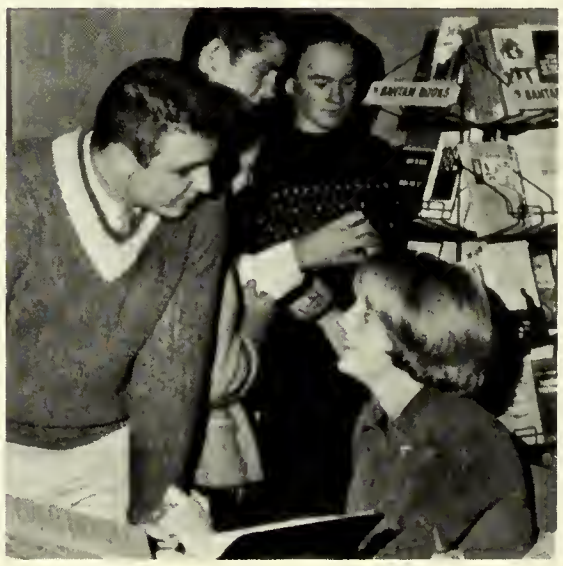
STUDENT

The Student Council has two primary functions. It governs the student body at East Bridgewater High School and acts as an intermediary between the students and the administration.

The organization has had an outstanding record of activity in both school and community during the past few years. They have been aided in this effort by the Director of Guidance, Mrs. Phyllis Briggs. As a governing body, the council regards all problems with equal consideration. If the topic is worthy of further action, the principal or superintendent of schools is consulted.



COUNCIL

In this manner, many workable solutions have been put into effect. Examples of these are the traffic squad and the lunch room time schedule. Financial assistance has been provided for various extra curricular groups throughout the school. The Student Council has inaugurated a Book Fair, furnishing the student body with a wide range of informative and entertaining reading material.

The Student Council has endeavored to promote school and community spirit, and has gained the admiration of both in doing so.

BOYS' STATE — GIRLS' STATE

Each year representatives from high schools throughout the Commonwealth attend programs sponsored by the American Legion at two of our leading colleges, the University of Massachusetts and the Bridgewater State College. The purpose of these conventions is to better acquaint the youth of today with the functions of both local and state governments.

The candidates selected to attend these seminars are carefully chosen on the basis of scholastic standing, character, leadership, and conduct. Representing East Bridgewater last year at Boys' State were John DeChristopher, Lawrence Leland, Leonard Shepard, Joseph O'Kelly, Russell Valliere, and Daniel Crowley. Nan Darling attended the sessions at Girls' State.

Programs scheduled for the students included a wide area of interests. The representatives attended lectures, forums, and regular college classrooms. These students also participated in the many political rallies, campaigns, and elections which were held on the campus. After a week's sessions, the representatives returned to East Bridgewater more fully aware of our government and its relationship to each American.

VOICE OF TOMORROW

For the twelfth successive year a group of East Bridgewater students presented a panel discussion on the "Voice of Tomorrow" program sponsored by radio station WBET. Moderator Dorothy Dale lead the discussion for this year's opening forum. The topic under consideration was "Opening Exercises, As Now Conducted, Are Unconstitutional."

The panelists were selected as a result of competition in the American Democracy classes conducted by Mr. Everett Lays, head of the social studies department. Chosen for the affirmative side were Patricia McNally and Douglas Murray; on the negative side were Nan Darling and Judith Morris. The guest speaker on the panel was Attorney Haskell C. Freedman, Legislative Counsel for the Massachusetts Association of School Committees and Chairman of the Newton School Committee. The Program was aired on Sunday, January 20, at 1:30 p. m. over radio station WBET.

JR. CHORUS

MR. JAMES D. GOODWIN

For the past few years, East Bridgewater High School has been steadily improving its chorus. Under the direction of Mr. James Goodwin, the group has grown in recognition as well as in size. During the year the combined junior chorus and choraleers have given fine performances at assemblies and concerts held here at E.B.H.S. The great effort involved in these difficult musical programs will be greatly remembered, for this group has brought much enjoyment to many of the students, friends, and faculty members at East Bridgewater High School.

THE

The first edition of the Torch appeared when the current senior class was in its freshman year. It has been the aim of each succeeding staff since then to improve, create, and innovate to the extent that their yearbook might be bigger and better, encompass more, and please a greater majority. The staff of the 1963 Torch has held the same high hopes for this fourth edition. The earmarks of progress can be seen in the new, hard cover and the use of duotone on important pages. We have eliminated several features of previous years to raise the caliber of our publication, and layouts have been simplified to prove more effective. The student in all phases of his life at East Bridgewater High School has been utilized whenever possible in order to fulfill our basic theme. The end product is a culmination of many efforts, and we hope that the reader will receive the 1963 Torch with as much enthusiasm as the staff put into its creation.

ARGUS

Argus, the voice of you, the students of EBHS, strives to present an accurate picture of student opinion.

Throughout the newspaper the thoughts and ideas of the student body are portrayed with regard to many controversial issues. Argus welcomes personal views on these topics as well as literary compositions, poems, fiction, and essays.

Argus is indeed a valuable asset and a definite credit to this school; it provides a medium of expression—a voice of the student.

Driver Training, an extracurricular activity in most high schools, has become increasingly popular. The chief aims of the program are to instruct in the rules of the road, to develop good attitudes, to instruct in the mechanics of operation, and to familiarize students with rural, city, and highway traffic conditions.

The program at EBHS has two divisions—classroom and on-the-road experience. Mr. Norman McGowan instructs in the classroom and takes out those who already have a license but who desire a Driver's Education Certificate. Mr. Roy Menard takes others out in the car three days a week.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT DAY

RUSSELL VALLIERE

This year East Bridgewater High School's Student Government Day delegate is Russell Valliere. In April he, together with other high school seniors, will attend the convention held at the State House in Boston. There these students will assume the positions of our various governmental officials and will participate in the numerous political functions held daily in our State House.

LIBRARY ASSISTANTS

MRS. ANNE HYNES, Librarian

Each year more and more students volunteer to serve as library assistants. The reasons are many; the pleasant atmosphere, the variety of activities, and the experience acquired all contribute to the library's enjoyment. Mrs. Hynes, our librarian, possesses a vivid imagination, and with her assistance the students are instructed in numerous tasks and projects. Working in the library is helpful to an individual's casual reading habits together with his academic pursuits. The service of these assistants has been a definite asset to the school as well as being beneficial to the assistants themselves.

CLINIC ASSISTANTS

The girls of the clinic provide an important function in giving prompt attention to the students' varied aches and illnesses, both real and imagined. It is through the efforts of the assistants that the E. B. H. S. clinic operates with speed and efficiency.

CUSTODIANS

Proper and efficient management of our high school is not solely dependent upon our faculty and administrative assistants. There is also another body of skilled individuals who aid in the direction of East Bridgewater High School. This seemingly insignificant yet vitally important body is the custodian staff.

Under the management of Mr. Robert Allen, the head custodian, this group performs its duties and services quickly and expertly. This staff includes Mrs. Mabel Packard, Mr. Donald Perkins, Mr. Albert Saccocia, Mr. Burns Walton. Through the diligent efforts of these individuals, various programs and activities conducted throughout this school have been extremely successful. Without their assistance none of this would have been possible.

PEP SQUAD

This year a new group has been formed under the supervision of our principal, Mr. Loud, in co-operation with the cheerleaders. It is known as the Pep Squad, and its primary purpose is to rouse the school spirit which at times seems dormant. Its members have worked diligently to prepare shakers and flash cards for use at the school's athletic events, and they have worked directly with the cheerleaders perfecting the school cheers.

Officers for the group, elected early in the season, are:

President—NANCY COTE
Vice President—THELMA BROWN
Secretary-Treasurer—JO ANN MAHONEY

The Pep Squad was formed on a trial basis. Membership was purely voluntary, but it has been met with such enthusiasm that it is now considered a major sports activity. Its success has taken a great deal of work and cooperation, but its rewards have been great. Its significance in various school programs is ample evidence of the revived spirit at East Bridgewater High School.

SPORTS

FOOTBALL

This year's football team enjoyed a fine season. Under the direction of head coach Vincent Malewicz, backfield coach Thomas O'Connell, assistant coach Sam Allen, and scout Demo Agganis, the blue and gold completed a winning season with an impressive 5-3-0 record. In all five wins our opponents were held scoreless. The 6-0 upset that snapped Holbrook's long winning streak proved a highlight of the season, but the climax came with the big win against West Bridgewater in a traditionally hard-fought Thanksgiving game. The 12-0 outcome gave E. B. permanent possession of the Booster's Club championship trophy. Other honors were bestowed upon the team as Capt. "Russ" Valliere earned a tackle position on the Enterprise-Times All-Scholastic Team and "Larry" Leland was chosen as a May-Shore League all-star end. There were eleven seniors on this years squad who gave the team both bulk and experience.

CROSS COUNTRY

This year's cross-country team was quite proud of their undefeated record. Under the leadership of coach Demo Agganis and co-captains Len Shephard and Fred Adams they defeated all nine opponents in league competition to win the South Shore Cross-Country Championship. The fine running of Ron Wilson, George McCabe and Ron Wood set the pace in the big win of the season against Scituate, 28-29. In non-league meets at Braintree and the State Cross Country Meet at Boston they competed against 28 other schools and on each occasion took a third position. They took first place in Division II at the South Shore Principals' Meet.

FIELD HOCKEY

This year Mrs. Lovering's field hockey team was able to succeed in defeating three of its opponents. The pre-season practices and excellent leadership of co-captains Sharon Hutson and Sandra Pray greatly contributed to the team's success. Although these two adept players will be leaving upon graduation, there are many skilled underclassmen who will return next year to play. With the valuable experience gained this season, these players will be better able to make next year's season a more successful one.

CHEERLEADERS

BASKE

Under the direction of Coach Joseph Morey, this year's basketball team enjoyed a fine season. With a final playoff game against Hull the team gained second place in the Eastern Division and the opportunity to enter the South Shore Playoff Tourney. In the South Shore Tourney the Easties came through strong as they downed Hanover 70-46, and went on to win the Championship as they edged out the highly favored Marshfield team 75-68. The Blue and Gold entered the Tech Tourney in high spirits but were eventually eliminated in the quarter finals by Bellingham. The overall record for the season was an impressive 19 wins and 7 losses.

COACH VIRGINIA LOVERING

The girls' softball team expects to enjoy a successful season this year. The squad has played extremely well in the past. This year, however, the group hopes to improve its game. Some of the girls participating are experienced players, while the team still has many newcomers to the sport. With the able leadership of Coach Lovering, the combined group of experienced and eager players will assuredly improve the team's record.

BASEBALL

The East Bridgewater Squad will open its season on April 18 at Hanover. At that time the team will begin the series of 11 league games to be played this year. The team itself is composed primarily of veteran senior players. Around this nucleus of skillful ball players will evolve a new group of enthusiastic underclassmen. This combination of experience and spirit will provide ample material for Coach O'Connell to mold and improve. With his instruction and constant team effort this group hopes to enjoy an extremely successful season.

Foxboro controls "export" steam for unique Air Force floating power plant

A seagoing cargo vessel converted to a modern, shore-type steam-electric power plant. That's the YFP-10, designed for the Air Force — and floated to a site off northern Greenland where it will produce steam and power for the Ballistic Missile Early Warning System.

The YFP-10 can produce up to 135,000 pounds of export steam per hour. All steam temperature and pressure variables are under Foxboro control. You will find Consotrol* control stations on the panel — Foxboro indicating pressure and temperature transmitters, and Foxboro valves on the line.

The Foxboro control system aboard the YFP-10 is another example of how Foxboro engineering and manufacturing skills serve the nation — and you — with advanced instrumentation.
